Summary of Planning Process

In the fall of 2011, President Stephen Barnett appointed a chairperson to coordinate a long-range strategic planning effort for the Collegiate Information and Visitor Services Association. Over a 3 month period, initial surveys and brainstorming sessions were conducted among current Board members. In January of 2012, a Strategic Planning Committee was formed. The committee was structured to encompass all four of the CIVSA regions consisting of the regional directors and two additional regional members. A timeline was developed for conference calls and the committee was further organized into three sub-committees consisting of The Survey Team, The Announcement Team and The Writing Team. The Committee began regular communication and collaboration to begin the work of gathering the information necessary to a successful planning effort. This was accomplished through member surveys and analysis of the raw data, collaboration of how to present The Plan to membership and creating this document which will serve as guidepost over the next three years. Throughout the process, each sub-committee began the initial stages pertinent to their area with the full committee staying apprised and involved during monthly conference calls. At each phase of the planning process, information was shared with CIVSA executive officers for review and approval and the committee chair provided status reports on monthly conference calls as part of the CIVSA board.

The products developed as a result of this strategic planning process include:

- A determination of internal strengths & weaknesses and external opportunities & threats.
- Current trends within the external environment.
- A standardized process for ongoing strategic planning.
- Development of strategic initiatives, tactical objectives and performance measures.
- A plan for monitoring the progress of The Plan and identifying points of accountability.

On June 2, 2013, Executive Officers officially authorized the CIVSA Strategic Plan 2013-16 by signature. The formal announcement to the membership was slated for the Annual Business Meeting in Alexandria, VA during the 20th Anniversary Conference through video and a written summary program. Those same announcement products will be made available to the full membership on the CIVSA website.

Organizational Description

Campus information and visitor services programs at institutions of higher education began at Boston University in 1925 with the establishment of the Campus Information Office. The first known meeting of professionals in the field was held at Purdue University in 1986, and the group grew to include 15 members by 1990. They were informally named "U-VIPs" but voted in that year to be named the "National Collegiate Visitor Services Association" (NCVSA) and coordinated their efforts through the newly-established visitor center at the University of Maryland-College Park.

In 1994, the first national conference of NCVSA was held at the University of Alabama at Birmingham with 25 members in attendance. By the second conference in June 1995, the association broadened its scope and was renamed the Collegiate Information and Visitor Services Association (CIVSA) which better recognized the broad membership of individuals and programs that provide "gateway" services to their campus communities.

CIVSA worked toward increasing the legitimacy of the campus information and visitor services field and in 1997 the first national headquarters was established at Rutgers University. Annual conferences continued with steady growth in attendance and great effort went into the solidification and organization of this new professional association. In 1998, CIVSA joined the Council for the Advancement of Standards in Higher Education (CAS) followed by the significant milestone of having CAS approve Campus Information and Visitor Services Standards and Guidelines in 2000.

CIVSA has grown exponentially to over 550 members and annual conferences rotating through the 4 regions at hotel/conference centers to maximize attendance and networking opportunities. Members connect and have the opportunity to share resources via social media, an email listserv as well as through quarterly conference calls and newsletters. In addition to annual conference, plans are in place to begin regional events and a student development conference will be held in January 2014.

As CIVSA increases its visibility in the field of higher education, thoughtful planning has gone into the organization’s logistics. In 2010, the association became an incorporated non-profit and headquarters is now independently run with a contracted association manager. An Operations Manual was developed for consistency in leadership and to streamline processes as well as the development of a formal annual budget. This 3 year strategic plan is aimed at shaping the future of CIVSA and will be an ongoing process with a committee in place to track accountability and update The Plan to strengthen CIVSA’s future.

Procedure for Monitoring and Changing The Plan

Oversight of this strategic plan will be monitored and managed by the Strategic Planning Committee under the direction of the President. The committee will consist of a chair and a minimum of 3 additional members with a broad representation of the 4 CIVSA regions.

Accountability for identified performance measures to reach objectives will be included in job descriptions of the officer, director, chairperson or staff in the current version of the CIVSA Operations Manual. The committee will work with these parties to ensure the smooth implementation of The Plan.

Any identified updates or changes over the three year period will be approved by the Executive Board using the following protocol:

1. All monitoring of progress on initiatives and objectives will be documented in writing.

2. Any suggested changes or updates will include answers to the following questions:
   - What is causing changes to be made?
   - Why the changes should be made? (the "why" is often different than "what is causing" the changes).
   - What specific changes should be made, including goals, objectives, accountability and timelines.

3. Various versions of The Plan will be managed and a new date added when strategic changes are deemed necessary.

4. All old copies of The Plan will be retained and updated versions posted to website for membership and distributed as appropriate to board members and stakeholders.
